At Fortis Property Services, we provide a variety of security services to both vacant and working construction sites. The presence of manned guarding at your site has many benefits. Guards are the first point of contact to a site, maintaining secure and checked access, they act as a visual deterrent for opportunistic thieves or vandals both inside and outside the working hours of the site. Additionally, our trained security personnel ensure rapid response to emergencies, further safeguarding your property and assets.

Our services include static guards as well as roaming patrols. Dog handlers are an excellent visual deterrent, and their presence has proven to be effective against unauthorised site access. All our personnel are SIA registered operatives, trained to manage conflict and prevent crime, so should any issues arise, you can rest assured they will be dealt with appropriately. Our team is committed to providing a proactive security solution, ensuring your premises are safe and secure at all times. Teams can be deployed day or night. Our security personnel are equipped with the latest communication and monitoring technology to ensure immediate response and real-time updates. Simply contact us today to request a quotation.
